FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Advantage Branch Selects Contour Design's RollerMouse PRO for the Advantage Branch Console™

Concord, NH – Advantage Branch & Office Systems of Concord, NH, a Turner Group Company, has selected the RollerMouse PRO as the ergonomic standard for use with the Advantage Branch Console™ and Advantage Branch System Solution™. The RollerMouse PRO is the latest ergonomic mousing device developed by Contour Design, Inc (www.contourdesign.com) of Windham, NH, and was voted #1 Input Device at the National Ergonomics Conference & Expo in 2004. Contour Design's revolutionary rollerbar provides single finger point and click functionality.

Harold Turner, President of Advantage Branch & Office Systems, LLC offers his comments:

"We are excited to have Contour Design, Inc as our provider for their new RollerMouse PRO mousing device. It is a perfect compliment to the ergonomic design of the Advantage Branch Console™ and will provide our bank and credit union customers with the latest in ergonomic mousing solutions. It's the best ergonomic input device that we have found on the market."

Jaymil Active Furniture, Inc (www.jaymil.com) of Manchester, NH, selected for their expertise in the field of ergonomics and tasked with finding the best ergonomic accessories available, will serve as the local distributor to Advantage Branch for all ergonomic component products, including the RollerMouse PRO.

The ergonomically designed Advantage Branch Console™ (patent pending), modular bank teller station, was introduced to the banking industry in 2004 by Advantage Branch & Office Systems (www.AdvantageBranch.com) at the ABA Bank Marketing Conference in 2004. Advantage Branch has recently agreed to license the design to Paoli Furniture™ of Paoli, IN. Paoli, Inc is a division of industry leader HON, and will be the manufacturer and distributor of the Advantage Branch Console™ through their 1600+ dealers in the United States. The Advantage Branch Console™ incorporates the latest in ergonomic design, ergonomic products, and new uses of computer information technology at the teller line.

The Advantage Branch Console™ is also available through Advantage Branch & Office Systems as part of its Advantage Branch System Solution™ (patent pending), which also adds new modular product designs for check desks and customer service desks, combined with enabling software to supply on-demand printing solutions, electronic advertising displays, and customer service enhancements to the retail banking environment. System Partners include Oki Data Americas, Samsung Electronics, and Paoli Furniture.

Advantage Branch & Office Systems, LLC is a solutions based company specializing in the needs of the banking industry. Advantage Branch has designed, patented (patents pending) and brought to market, several new products, including the Advantage Branch Console™, which were created to meet the specific needs of the branch bank and credit union retail environment.
